

PRESS RELEASE

Contact:

Charlotte Eliopoulos RN, MPH, PHD

Executive Director

Ron Romano RN

Director of Professional Relations

513-618-6530

American Association for Long Term Care Nursing Establishes Partnership with Clinical Resources, LLC

AALTCN partners with Clinical Resources, LLC, to provide membership and educational opportunities for interim personnel and consultants in Skilled Nursing, Assisted Living Facilities and CCRC's nationwide.

Glen Arm, MD, December 28, 2007 – Clinical Resources, LLC, an interim placement and consulting company, has chosen AALTCN as a partner to provide membership and support to the interim professionals and personnel they place in facilities nationwide. “Providers often require interim support during times of transition to ensure facility systems do not deteriorate due to an unforeseen or planned vacancy”, says Jennifer Scully, founder and CEO of Clinical Resources. “Interim personnel must be current with industry standards and hold credentials reflective of their knowledge. AALTCN provides certificate programs for all major nursing positions in a facility; therefore we support and encourage our interim personnel to achieve these certifications so our clients are assured they have access to competent and credentialed professionals. This is reflective of our company’s commitment to presenting and representing only the best!”

Clinical Resources determined early in its business plan that all interim consultants and personnel would receive the support and services they need to remain current in their area of practice, despite working independently in various locations nationwide. “Jennifer has committed to maintaining the highest level of expertise among the consultants and professionals she represents”, says Charlotte Eliopoulos, AALTCN’s President and Executive Director. “She contacted us to initiate the process for attaining membership and all of the associated benefits for her consultants and professionals. This is reflective of Clinical Resources’ commitment to providing the most competent professionals for all assignments, whether temporary or permanent. Our certificate programs will set the standard of education for her team”.

“This is exactly the kind of partnership that AALTCN is committed to promoting”, states Ron Romano, Director of Professional Relations for AALTCN. “Through its educational programs and resources, AALTCN will assist the Clinical Resources’ professionals in providing top notch leadership and advancing the nursing departments that they serve to optimal levels of quality practice.”

About Clinical Resources, LLC Owned and operated by LTC professionals, Clinical Resources places experienced personnel in temporary and interim positions in hospitals, skilled nursing and assisted living facilities and CCRC’s, nationwide. Clinical Resources partners with providers to ensure their temporary needs are met during times of transition. Clinical Resources is committed to working with highly skilled clinical and healthcare professionals dedicated to ensuring quality care while on temporary assignment while remaining committed to “Providing Consistent and Predictable Results”. For more information, visit www.ClinicalResourcesLLC.com or call 1- (888) 800-3377.

About AALTCN American Association for Long Term Care Nursing unites all levels of long-term care nursing staff for the purpose of advancing excellence in the specialty of LTC nursing. It offers certificate programs for DONs, RNs, LPNs, and Staff Development Specialists in long term care, provides educational programs, communicates current information, promotes team unity, and advocates for LTC nursing staff on the national level. Rather than individual memberships, the nursing department joins AALTCN for a single fee and all members of the department can take advantage of membership benefits. For further information call 513-618-6530 or visit www.LTCNursing.org